PERSONAL AND SOCIETY.

[All society and personal notes for the Sunday issue of the Journal, to secure publication, must be sent to the city editor by Saturday noon.]

One of the latest forms of invitation reads, "Mrs. --- pours tea Wednesday, April 30, in honor of Mrs. ----, of Washington, from 8 to 11 -," or any other hour, afternoon or evening. By such words it is understood one is invited to some entertainment, though there is really no more invitation about it than there is in the other forms. A card with the name, date and hour inscribed thereon is the accepted form of invitation, and in the lower lefthand corner there may be "cards," "dancing," "thimbles," or any word which signifies the kind of entertainment to be given. Wedding invitations and those for the observance of some particular event, are generally literal requests for one's presthe customary, briefly expressed invitation is equal to in meaning. "The old-fashioned Mr. and Mrs. - request your presence," seems to be unchangeable, and any other is subject to variation at the caprice of fashion. The invitation cards having a thimble, cards, tea-kettle, small table or other articles stamped in gilt or colors in one corner, have not come into general use here as they have in some other cities.

A majority of the haut ton who have heen studying German and French industriously all winter will now go back to plain English. The professor, who came recommended to one of the leading families, and was taken up by its members and their friends, who formed a large class for the study of the two languages, with the understanding that a knowledge of one or both was to be accomplished in three months' time, with any number of lessons a week, has departed. The "J'ai" and "Ich habe" are all on his side: that is he has the money—some pre-paid to June and the class has the experience. His specialty in the languages was fairy tales, and his promises seem to have corresponded beautifully with this particular branch of his teaching. There are said to have been two hundred persons in the classes at one time, ranging in years from six to sixty, all perfectly charmed with the prospect of becoming expert linguists in three months' time. Young men and maidens, husbands and wives, followed the fashion and joined the class. Some who had studied before made a little progress through the pro-fessor's remarkable "object" teaching. those who were ignorant of alphabet, numbers and time of day in the languages taught are still un-enlightened. Though they may know "they lived in peace, died in grease and were buried in a tub of water," to perfection, the great public is still gullible; but probably the next language teacher who promises to make one proficient in a foreign tongue in three months will have to remain longer than that time to prove it to the Indian-apolis "Four Hundred"—or is it two hun-dred, or only forty?

WASSON & Co

We propose to make the coming week the biggest in the amount of sales since the sale began. To do this, you know as well as we do, low prices must be made—a sacrifice greater than we ever expected must be made to keep up our trade so far away from the general thoroughfare.

The sacrifice will be made, for the stock must be reduced before the hot weather begins. Then it will be too great a distance to come. Come now and buy what you want at from one-third to half less than you pay at retail elsewhere, whether it is a calico dress or a fine silk. Everything goes.

a choice of three lines Robes: $2.25, $5.95, $6.90. Prices named will be less than one-third regular prices, and all and a regular $1 quality for 50c a yard: Only ten pieces each quality. Best French Sateens, Cashmere Ombre,
